

Soviets Will Start Muttering If U.S. Gives Polaris To Britain

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — A whole new era of bickering, and Moscow muttering, opens if the United States gives Britain Polaris missiles that can be fired from ocean depths to targets hundreds of miles away.

Reports from the Bahamas said President Kennedy, meeting there with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, was near agreement on granting the missiles — if they become part of a NATO nuclear striking force.

Such agreement, if reached in the meeting's windup today, would be new. But the idea isn't. Kennedy suggested it just a few months after taking office in 1961. This country's European NATO partners have been edgy over the arrangement made so far for the use of nuclear weapons to defend Europe in case of attack: the United States has the weapons and controls them.

This gives Washington full and final say on whether the weapons would be used at all. Britain and France have been determined to build their own nuclear force. This can be stretched.

If a whole bunch of the NATO partners eventually had their own nuclear force and the 15 member nations — including the United States — having a say on how and when to use them.

This is the kind of arrangement, according to the reports from the Bahamas, Kennedy seemed to have in mind in talking with Macmillan. But he has had it in mind more than a year and a half.

Kennedy, talking to the Canadian Parliament May 17, 1961, said the United States would commit to the "NATO command area five — and subsequently still more — Polaris atomi-missile submarines, subject to any agreed NATO guidelines on their control and use."

And he added: "Beyond this we look to the possibility of eventually establishing a NATO sea-borne missile force which would be truly multilateral in ownership and control, if this should be desired and found feasible."

Just this week in a televised discussion with three reporters, shortly before he left for the Bahamas, Kennedy said: "If the French want to become a nuclear power that is their decision. The question is whether the United States should join in helping make France a nuclear power, then Italy, then West Germany, then Belgium."

"How does that produce security when you have (perhaps) 30 nuclear powers who may fire their weapons off under different conditions? That isn't in our interest, or in the interest of peace, or the interest of Western Europe. "Why duplicate what we have already done, and are doing in Western Europe, as long as our guarantees are good?"

Only last week at the big December meeting of the NATO Council in Paris, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made this offer: to help Western Europe build a nuclear force of its own if the Europeans themselves can work out multinational political control and share the enormous costs.

NATO Council sources said the initial reaction from other foreign ministers was cool. While France and Britain are big enough to build their own nuclear forces, others said their governments couldn't stand the expense.

If this country gave Britain Polaris missiles before some joint NATO control of them was established, France and probably other Allies would be irritated. When they get irritated they argue.

And what would be Soviet Premier Khrushchev's reaction? It's a safe bet he'd scream. Last July he told visiting American editors he hadn't discussed with Moscow's Communist allies anywhere the question of what countries can have nuclear arms. He probably won't, either.

He'd hardly give them to Red China, which has been denouncing him and may become the Soviet Union's greatest enemy and menace. Nor is he likely to consider giving them to Soviet satellites in Europe. He doesn't have to give them anything.

The announcement of a Kennedy-Macmillan agreement would start the rumpus.

Disabled Veterans Urged To File Reports of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Cleveland, said today more than 32,000 disabled veterans and dependents of deceased veterans from the 38-county northern Ohio area under the jurisdiction of the Cleveland office, have yet to file their report of income for pension purposes. VA beneficiaries concerned are urged to complete and return immediately the annual income questionnaire cards mailed with the November pension checks and received Dec. 1.

Prompt return of these cards will help guard against suspension of pension payments or other penalty.

TO BE RETAINED
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Deputy State Auditor C. W. Goble will continue in his present position after Auditor-elect Roger W. Tracy takes office Jan. 14, the new auditor says.

Goble, who served as adjutant general under Gov. Thomas J. Herbert in 1947-48, has held his present job under auditor James A. Rhodes since March 1, 1955.

GOODYEAR BUYS PLANT
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Corp. has purchased for an undisclosed price a substantial interest in a synthetic rubber-making plant near Borger, Texas.

The agreement is with Phillips Chemical Co., a subsidiary of Phillips Petroleum Co. Each company's share of a synthetic type rubber known as cis-polybutadiene will be utilized or sold by it.

Officers Installed by Fairfield Ruritan Club

Robert Reash was installed as president of the Fairfield Ruritan Club when members met Thursday at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana for their Christmas dinner party.

ard Fox, vice president; (standing) Albert Wickline, secretary. John McGeehan, treasurer, and Stelvin Blosser, directors for three years.

Rev. Thomas Hamerton of the East Palestine Methodist Church showed slides and talked about his trip through the Holy Land. The program was in charge of the church and home committee, with Ed Bell, chairman. Wilbur Webber, outgoing president, conducted the business meeting. The club will distribute Christmas baskets to needy families.

A gift exchange was held. Zone officers will meet at 7 p.m. Jan. 14 at Heck's Restaurant. A directors' meeting will be held Jan. 8 at the home of Robert Reash in Columbiana.

Bunker Hill Church Group Has Banquet

Men of Bunker Hill Methodist Church held their annual charter night banquet at Aldom's Restaurant in Alliance Tuesday with 13 members and their wives present.

Officers for the coming year who were installed are: Eldon Maris, president; Ray Weingart, vice president; Carson McNeely, chaplain; Robert Dickson, secretary-treasurer; Don Walk, attendance chairman; Harry Thomas, social chairman, and Norman Summers, reporter.

Juvenile Officer To Return 2 Youths

LISBON — Juvenile Probation Officer James Miller of Salineville will leave Wednesday for Albuquerque, N. Mex., to return two East Liverpool area boys, aged 16 and 17, who were apprehended by New Mexico authorities for three commercial burglaries.

The youths also admitted 10 other burglaries in Oklahoma and Illinois, local authorities said. The youths will receive hearings before Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin who requested the New Mexico authorities to allow him to handle the cases.

ADMIT CAR THEFTS

CINCINNATI (AP) — Juvenile Court is scheduled to get the case of two boys, ages 14 and 15, who police say have admitted stealing cars for fun while out on pass from Longview Mental Hospital. Officers said Thursday the two stole 28 cars in two months and were tracked down by fingerprints after detectives noted a large number of stolen autos abandoned near the hospital.

IBOP Meets Jan. 10 For Wage Talks

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today its Sanitary Wage Policy Committee will open its annual conference Jan. 10 in Cincinnati to map strategy for later bargaining sessions with employers.

The IBOP said the meeting is scheduled "to discuss collective bargaining strategy of all unions in the Brotherhood chain whose affiliated membership is employed in the sanitary branch of the industry and to develop plans for joint union action in negotiations with management."

Representative of local unions in the art, tile, porcelain and refractories branches of the industry will confer with the Executive Board Jan. 9, also to map plans for future collective bargaining. The locals will follow a pattern similar to that anticipated by representatives of sanitary industry workers, the IBOP said.

The opening day of the sanitary wage conference will be devoted to hearing reports from conferees on individual plants, the union said.

Prior to the sanitary locals' meeting, the IBOP Executive Board will be in session about three days for its annual mid-winter conference, the union said. The board, comprised of the 12 international officers, will review developments in 1962 and map plans for 1963.

All the meetings will be held at the Netherlands-Hilton Hotel in Cincinnati. E. L. Wheatley, international president, will conduct the sessions.

Freed Fined $300 In Payola Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Rock 'n' roll disc jockey Alan Freed has pleaded guilty to accepting bribes from record companies and was fined $300 and given a six-month suspended jail sentence.

The 40-year-old Freed, now of Palm Springs, Calif., formerly of Salem, O., figured in a disc jockey payola investigation two years ago.

It led to criminal charges being filed against him in May, 1960, accusing him of accepting a total of $330,650 in bribes from seven record companies.

He pleaded guilty to two counts Monday, involving a $2,000 bribe from the Cosnat Distributing Co. and one of $700 from the Superior Record Sales Co., Inc.

Criminal Court Judge John M. Murtagh gave him a month to pay the $300 fine.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Stone, who conducted the payola inquiry, said Freed had been on the payroll of a number of record companies that paid him $400 to $700 a month to favor their records.

Perry Township Fire Protection

If Councilman James Aldom intended, by his objections to renewal of the city-Perry Township fire pact, to generate interest over possible annexation of the surrounding suburban township area, he probably succeeded.

At least he will have provided some "food for thought" for township residents who must initiate any such action.

IT CERTAINLY WOULD be unwarranted for City Council to suddenly decline to renew the fire protection agreement with the township trustees and the other members of Council obviously think so because only the Democratic councilman-at-large raised any protest.

The Perry Township agreement with the city for fire protection has been renewed every two years for several decades and the trustees never reneged on the fee as stipulated by Council. Four years ago residents of the township authorized purchase of a small booster pumper and this has been kept at the City Hall fire station for use of city firemen in answering township calls or for runs in the city proper, if needed. There never has been any disagreement; relationships have been most harmonious.

It is true, however, that the township area which encompasses the city of Salem has been expanding rapidly in recent years in the number of residences and commercial buildings and perhaps a new appraisal of the over-all fire protection program is needed.

FIRE PROTECTION is a must, whether it is provided by the township or the city individually or on a cooperative deal and it might be appropriate for members of City Council and the Perry Township trustees to meet some evening soon to discuss the matter from a long-range standpoint.

Perry Township probably could maintain its own fire department but this could not be achieved overnight.

Annexation, perhaps, is the answer to this and other allied problems in a growing community.

Some December --- Pow!

It would be hard to find anyone with an unkind word to say about the beautiful November weather that made it possible to believe winter was going to be postponed indefinitely.

But the beautiful weather played hob with Christmas merchandising. When winter did come, it came so violently that people who hadn't felt like buying Christmas merchandise while the weather was too warm couldn't get out to buy because the weather was too cold.

Newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland added another complication. Even things that had been foreseen, or least were foreseeable, have added complications, such as the fact that Saturday before Christmas last year was one day closer to the great day than it will be this year, because Christmas was on Monday last year and is on Tuesday this year.

Business analysts say Saturday business last year made it a merchandising day to remember for all time to come. This year there's one more selling day than there was last year. Which may offset the business about Saturday.

This is the way it always goes. In November, Christmas prognosticators peer ahead through the gathering darkness of the winter solstice and see all kinds of hopeful signs and portents. In December, reality asserts itself over prognostication. Things are never quite as good as they are depicted in November.

Some year there will be a December when the weather will be just right, the national buying power will be distributed equitably world politics will be serene, the business cycle will be favorable, all the people will be in a joy, outgoing mood, the merchandise will be better than it ever was before—and pow

Merry Christmas will be so good that not even the gloomy Guses will have anything to say. The truth is it's almost that good nearly every year, except for one thing—it's never as good as it is cracked up to be by those who want to think it's going to be better than it has a chance to be. Weather, human nature and other circumstances being as they are.

The Idea of Clarification

The Ohio Association of Prosecuting Attorneys has gone on record to ask the new Ohio General Assembly to clarify the state's Sunday sales law. This puts more backbone into the mandate of the voters when they turned down the proposed Lawson amendment last Nov. 6.

The county prosecutors are directly concerned with the fact there is no uniformity of interpretation of the existing Blue Law and can be none as long as Ohioans pull and haul their officious this way and that way to suit their widely varying versions of the law's intent. Voters apparently want legislators to write a new set of regulations; they did not think the Lawson amendment was adequate.

The first step the General Assembly will need to take is to clear its own collective legislative mind before it can clear up the law.

Lady's Day

At last we know why Mona Lisa wears that certain smile. She's received an all-expense round trip to the United States (her first) and a chance to eye Washington society from a prime spot on the walls of the National Gallery.

That's enough to flatter any lady.

SSS to the Rescue

By Truman Twill

This is the week when the North Pole is tilted 23 degrees and 27 minutes away from the sun and the nights in the Northern Hemisphere are longer than the days—the Winter Solstice.

The climax of the tilting is reached on Dec. 22, and thereafter the movement is reversed until by next June it has gone equally far in the other direction and the days are longer than the nights. That's the Summer Solstice.

Knowledge about them is relatively recent. All the old-timers knew was that in the Northern Hemisphere it kept getting darker and colder until things got so bad by Dec. 22 or thereabout they could get no worse.

At this point, the natives came on strong to cheer up each other, with the net effect that the custom of whooping and hollering at solstice time got started. What went on in the season of the long night in December was only slightly more restrained than what went on in the long day in June—Midsummer's Day—still commemorated on the stage in Shakespeare's memorable play, "Midsummer Night's Dream."

This had been going on in the Northern Hemisphere aeons and aeons of aeons before anything new associated with the current historical era was going on. It helps to remember that as time is measured there has been only one tic of a tic-toc clock in the Christian era so far.

It helps to remember this. It puts the ceremony and celebration of the Winter Solstice into its proper perspective as a thing associated with mankind from the beginning. It explains the thing about these December days that puzzles and offends those who never have taken the long view of the connection between the solstice and human beings who huddled together for cheer and comfort when it seemed as if the powers of darkness were closing in to stay.

It even offends some of these people when they hear that the Japanese, whose climate is similar to our own, have taken all the trappings of the December holiday to their hearts and now have reindeer and now have Santa Claus and Subordinate Claus just as we do in America.

This has nothing to do with the Christian Christmas, and the two should be thought of separately. There is no need for conflict between them. Each is sufficient unto itself, and when the two are put together—as they are in the view of most of us—they're the winningest combination of the calendar year.

It's strange that nothing comes of Midsummer Day in this country. In Britain, tens of thousands of people travel to Stonehenge to watch the sun come up on Midsummer Day and what goes on during their nightlong vigil is so wild the authorities erect barbed wire barricades around Stonehenge itself to hold back the celebrants until daybreak.

In America June 21 will be just another day next year, longer than all others but otherwise undistinguished. Something should be done to juice it up and make it sparkle. If there's anything to be made of this, why not a movement to put life back into Midsummer Day. Send $10 to this column for membership in the SSS—Summer Solstice Society.

Republicans and Democrats have begun to quarrel over whether equal time should be granted for a rebuttal to President Kennedy's interview on radio and television last Monday night.

David Lawrence hasn't quite made up its mind who the actors in the show would be. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-NY, has urged the networks to refuse "categorically" any requests for equal time, as he says it would "set a most dangerous precedent." Besides, he argues, Mr. Kennedy is not a political candidate.

Technically, of course, the 1964 political campaign hasn't started and there are no formal candidates, but actually the campaign is already under way.

President Kennedy really has begun to campaign actively for reelection. Almost every move he makes nowadays is based on its possible impact on the voters during the next 22 months. Every opportunity for publicity is sought. The latest example is the unprecedented interview on radio and television over all three major networks for a full hour last Monday night. The President could have given every bit of this information at a regular news conference but it wouldn't have been dramatic enough nor subject to previous editing.

Mr. Kennedy evidently felt sure that the newspapers would use the interview rather fully, anyway, so it would also get wide publication in the press.

THE BIGGEST advantage of all to Mr. Kennedy, however, is that he manages by this method to prevent any rebuttal on the same night that he gets full coverage of his views over the television networks. It is not like the "great debates" of the last presidential campaign, when the opposite candidate was at least given a chance to answer point by point.

All the provisions of federal law about equal time with reference to television and radio programs that concern speeches by major candidates in politics seem to have become meaningless under the new procedure.

The President can always argue that his speeches aren't political, though almost everything he said in the broadcast on Monday, for example, had to do with major political subjects which are current issues before the country.

The arrangements made by the three networks for the President's interview precluded any opposition speaker following closely on the President's remarks. It's said they did try to invite national personalities to talk, but there was no way by which the latter could prepare themselves for rebuttal the same evening, though the President himself had 24 hours in which he could change the transcript in whatever way he pleased.

The manipulation of news now is an administration policy and the manipulation of network facilities has become a valuable instrument in the "arsenal of weaponry" on the political battlefield. Almost everyone who knows anything about politics is aware that what is said during a campaign is only half the battle, and that a substantial number of votes have already been won or lost by what is said or done prior to the actual beginning of a campaign.

A ONE-SIDED presentation of what the government is doing appeals to some politicians as fair, but the people resent the obvious use of public office for political purposes.

The newspapers have a circulation of nearly 60 million copies, and these reach an even larger number of individuals in with television sets is around 47 million, but not everybody stays home for every program. Yet those who miss a president's utterances on the air can generally get a copy of a newspaper and read about them there.

So the President is certainly an astute press agent in his own behalf in giving the television networks a special program which they can advertise in advance.

What's more important is whether this sort of thing can become a brainwashing operation through which the people are led to form impressions based on incomplete and inadequate presentation of controversial subjects. Opponents have virtually no chance to refute presidential statements.

In the Soviet Union such things are handled by forbidding all countercomment or criticism of the top executive. If there is criticism at all, it's usually at a later date, long after the initial speech. Maybe that's going to be the net effect in America, where the networks are under direct government supervision and control.

THE BROADCASTERS usually try to maintain independence, but many nevertheless find it desirable to play ball with the administration in power. That's why the newspapers become the last available source for the prompt and continuous presentation of both sides of controversial questions in a comprehensive manner in their news pages.

"Oh Dear, He Found the Chemistry Set"

Soviets Plan Long Stay In Cuba

From the Files

By VICTOR RIESEL

GENEVA

It is deceptively peaceful. Swan imperially impervious to the swirling snow paddle gracefully on the icy Rhone River. Along the Quai Des Bergues meet and hurry through the sleet, over the bridges to hotel rooms and little restaurants to exchange information.

Here in the most concentrated repository of international data, men of the "bloc" and men of the NATO alliance meet officially in common councils of almost a hundred international agencies and try to pump each other—mostly, for the moment, about Cuba.

If one listens and digs, one discovers the Red bloc's specific plans for development of Cuba into a reverse West Berlin—a prosperous Communist outpost, a Soviet showpiece within our defense lines.

Here there is the evidence of Soviet plans for a bridge of big freighters over which to run hundreds of millions of dollars worth of heavy machinery into Cuba.

HERE YOU LEARN of new freight and passenger shipping lines being created for swift runs from Communists ports to Havana.

Here there is the detailed evidence of the Red quotas from each bloc country, with which Chairman Khrushchev hopes to make Cuba the most efficient, highly productive state in Latin America.

There is, for example, the report of a special meeting of Communist transoceanic shipping specialists aboard a holiday cruise ship, the Fritz Heckert. It is owned by the East German government. Those experts organized a four-nation Communist consortium which will set up a special Baltic Sea-Caribbean shipping company.

This joint regular shipping service begins operating from Baltic ports to Havana during the first week of 1963. Its first operation will be based on a fleet of 12 freighters. There will be four sailings a month out of the "Socialist ports." Mostly heavy machinery will be carried.

When the experts aboard the luxurious S.S. Fritz Heckert disclosed the new commercial fleet organization, they said this was "a reply to the U.S. attempt to crush Socialist Cuba... through economic pressure."

This was announced three weeks ago.

FASCINATING, to, is the creation of a new regular passenger service from the Baltic lands, East Germany, and the Polish port of Gdynia. There are three vessels on the Baltic-Cuban passenger run now.

One is the S.S. Baltika, which we covered when Chairman Khrushchev turned it into a personal yacht for his shoe pounding visit to the United Nations. The other ships are the SS Mikhail Kalinin and the SS Maria Ulyanova.

The latter is the latest to sail. It left Riga on Dec. 9 for Havana with an intermediate stop at Gdynia. Aboard was a contingent of young Cubans who had finished their retraining at Soviet technical schools and propaganda institutions.

There will be counterpart fleets created by the East German, the Polish, the Czech and Cuban governments. Each will run from another part of Europe. Each will carry untrained Cuban youths to Iron Curtain ports, and Soviet specialists and trained Cubans back to Havana. Thus they will be able to by-pass the more telltale commercial aviation carriers and routes.

As these fleets grow they will replace the ships chartered from other nations. Then the Soviets will be able to move, in greater secrecy, even the heaviest of equipment—including whole factories.

Many of these plants will come from East Germany.

THIS EAST BERLIN government is expected to build in Cuba, within three years, at least 26 complete factories. They'll cost some $30 million. By the end of 1963 the East Germans will set up new industries run by German technicians. Among the scheduled plants are factories to weld electrodes, whip out electric motors and installations for the production of cement vegetable oil textiles metal containers and sewing machines. This is not entirely for the Cuban domestic market. Rather the produce will be dumped inside Latin America.

Czechoslovakia's quota next year will be almost $100 million worth of complete factories six steam turbine stations, and even automated machinery.

From Romania will come millions of dollars worth of oil equipment, road-building machinery, chemical products and 3,500 tractors. From Poland the quota includes storehouses, grain elevators, a ship repair and ship building yard at Mariel by 1964-65.

Thus it goes with the entire bloc, including Bulgaria, which has been assessed 10 power stations; and Hungary, which has been told to deliver telecommunications equipment.

Apparently the Soviets plan to stay a while.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

—LIVING IN A FISHBOWL.

Dear Living: You can't ask your folks to get rid of the TV and washing machine, kick out your brothers, shoot the dog and bar company from your home. Surely there is ONE room where you can go and close the door.

If not, then stay at school and do your homework in the library. Yes, and pass up the activities.

Community Property

Dear Ann: I'm 24 and he is 29. We are engaged to be married in the spring.

Something is troubling me. During my working years I've accumulated more than $3,000 which I have invested in a mutual fund. When a woman marries should she change everything to joint ownership? He knows I have stock but never has made any suggestions. He has stock, too, but I don't know how much.

My fiancé is sensible, mature and completely trustworthy. I'm inclined to want to hang on to just a little of my financial independence. Is this wrong? I feel guilty. Perhaps I am looking at it from a single-girl point of view and need someone to shake some sense into my head. How about it?—HIGH HOPES.

Dear High: In a first marriage, such as yours, I believe in joint ownership across the board. The more "ours" and the less "mine and thine" the better.

You and your fiancé should frankly discuss what each of you owns and all holdings should be converted to joint ownership.

He is furious with me and refuses to speak unless it is absolutely essential. When people offer congratulations he makes ugly remarks and I could die from embarrassment.

I can't figure out why he is so upset, Ann. He thinks the world of our little girl. Please tell me what to do. I've tried everything with no success.—IDES OF MARCH.

Dear Ides: Stop trying to placate the clod. Of course his behavior is unspeakable but he isn't thinking straight these days and buttering him up won't help.

The responsibility of another child may be frightening to him and he is reacting badly. After the baby arrives he probably will be the proudest pa on the block.

Vocal Minority

Dear Ann: I'm a sophomore in high school and sinking fast. I got a strong B average the first period. The second period will be a different story. My grades have been slipping and I'll be lucky to get a C average.

The trouble is at home. Every time I start to do homework the TV goes on, the washing machine starts, my kid brothers fight, the dog barks and we get company.

It's impossible to get into the college I want without topnotch grades. I'm trying to build a good record now so I won't be crying the blues later. But how can I, with all these distractions at home?

When I complain my dad tells me I should do my homework right after school instead of waiting till after supper. I can't, because there are so many activities after school and I hate to miss them. Please tell me what to do.

Reluctant Father

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a young mother with a big problem. My husband and I have been happily married for seven years. We have an adorable little 5-year-old girl.

I've been wanting another baby for three years but my husband's stock answer is, "One is enough." I argued and argued but it did no good. Well, now it has happened, and I am pregnant.

I thought he would change his mind and be happy once a baby was on the way, but I was wrong.

History Today

Today is Friday, Dec. 21, the 355th day of 1962. There are 10 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1935, Judge Merrill Otis of the U.S. District Court in Kansas City, Mo., ruled that the Wagner National Labor Relations Act was invalid in its entirety. Judge Otis held that manufacturing is not commerce.

On this day: In 1620, the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock after a 63-day ocean voyage from England.

In 1776, Benjamin Franklin reached Paris on a mission for the U.S. government.

In 1829, the first stone arch railroad bridge in the world was opened over Gwynn's Falls at Baltimore, Md.

In 1945, famed World War II Gen. George Patton Jr. died in Germany of injuries received in an auto accident.

In 1954, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said U.S. atomic weapons would be used tactically against any aggression in Europe.

Today's birthdays: Business executive Eric Johnstone is 66. Former golf star Walter Hagen is 70.

GEORGIA ANN LIDE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Lide of Westville Lake and a senior at West Branch High School, will audition Jan. 5 at the University of Indiana at Bloomington, Ind., for a twirling position with the Indiana University Marching Hundred band.

Miss Lide, winner of the Ohio State Senior Championship in 1961, currently ranks 5th in the nation following competition at St. Paul, Minn., in January. She will be accompanied to Bloomington by her father.

LAWRENCE KAERCHER was installed as president of the Salem Unit No. 20, Ohio Cosmetologists Association, by Mary Eileen Hagan at the annual Christmas party of the group Monday evening at Timberlanes.

Other officers installed were: First vice-president, Vivian Mossey; second vice president, Bernice Sanor; secretary, Mary Lou Scheuring; treasurer, Euna McConner; reporter, Larry McLaughlin, and past president, Miss Hagan.

Members were seated at tables decorated with white candles nestled in pine boughs.

Following the dinner the Salem Unit Hair Fashion Committee presented models on the new dancing wave trend.

Republican Women Elect Mrs. Lindner As President

Mrs. Carl Lindner was elected president of the Republican Women's Club of Salem at a meeting of the organization Monday evening in their rooms in the Masonic Temple.

Assisting Mrs. Lindner during the coming year will be the following officers: Vice president, Miss Carmen McNichol; secretary, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, and treasurer, Mrs. Harry Abrams. Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. Kenneth Ossman, Mrs. James Criswell and Mrs. Mabel Campbell.

Mrs. Letha Astry described the structure of politics from the precinct committeeman through the national committees.

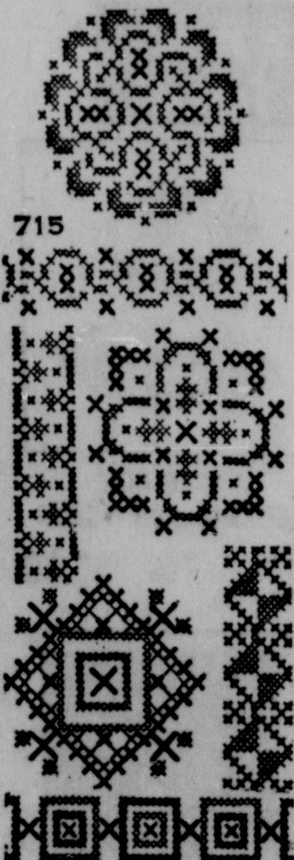

"Angels and Shepherds," from the book, Ben Hur, was read by Mrs. Ralph Woods. William and Paul Lindner sang a group of Christmas songs and led the group in singing carols.

Refreshments were served by the executive committee from a table decorated in the holiday theme with branches of pine running the length of the table and augmented with lighted candles, glass Christmas bells and pine cones. Mrs. E. U. Whitacre was in charge of decorations.

Robert Bell, 18th district committeeman, Joseph F. Savage and Ernest U. Whitacre were special guests.

Plans for a membership drive will be discussed at the next meeting Jan. 21, which will be a coverdish supper at 6 p.m. in the club rooms.

A Word From the Trapp Family:

Yule Music Run Into Ground, Baroness Says

By DICK KLEINER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Baroness Maria von Trapp has eyes as blue as a mountain pool in her native Austria. But they flash with red-and-green fire when she talks about Christmas music.

"I violently, strongly, utterly and positively despise what has happened to the sacred music of Christmas," she says. "It has been prostituted by the stores who play it all day long from Thanksgiving on. They use it so much that, by Christmas Eve, when it should mean something, it no longer does. It is ruining Christmas music for the children; they become jaded."

FOR MANY YEARS, the Trapp Family Singers' Christmas concerts were famous treats in many cities all over the world. The family has grown up, the singers have disbanded, the concerts are only dim echoes in the memories of thousands, but Christmas music remains close to her heart.

Through her mother, she is descended from the Tyrolean family which first brought "Silent Night" to the world.

"I feel so strongly about the way the sacred music of Christmas has been commercialized," she said. "There are many yuletide songs, such as 'Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly,' which the stores could use. But the sacred songs—'Silent Night' and the rest—should be confined to the home and the church."

EVERY CHRISTMAS now, a few Trapps gather at their mother's home, a ski lodge she runs in Stowe, Vt. But there aren't many within gathering distance. Of the 10 children, one is dead, three are too far away, the rest are scattered throughout the U.S.

In order, this is the present whereabouts of the 10 children: Rupert is a country doctor in Rhode Island; Agatha runs a kindergarten near Baltimore; Maria is a lay missionary in New Guinea; Werner is a farmer in Vermont; Hedwig teaches in Honolulu; Johanna is married to an Austrian professor; Martina died during childbirth; Rosemary is currently at home after service.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: A friend of mine just recently had a huge plumbing bill because the main disposal pipes in her house were blocked solid with lint from the washing machine.

One of her friends suggested using an old nylon stocking slipped over the drain hose so that just the foot was hanging free. The leg part of the stocking was anchored by tying or using a tight elastic band slipped over the end of the drain hose to secure it in place.

I tried this myself and the results were amazing.

In just four days a ball of lint . . . the size of my fist had accumulated in the foot of the stocking itself!

This is truly the best hint I have ever received in my 16 years of housekeeping.

HELEN H.

DEAR HELOISE: I do not have a shower to put my high chair in . . . so . . . I take it out in the yard and squirt a while with the garden hose and this works beautifully.

I make my own sour cream by using the double amount of dry milk. For example, instead of one-third cup of dry milk to three-fourths cup water, I use two-thirds cup dry milk and three-fourths cup of water, and add a little vinegar. After I beat it well I have perfect sour cream.

For something different . . . have you ever tried baking a regular box cake in your angelfood cake pan? I did and it turned out beautifully.

LUCKY.

DEAR HELOISE: Would you please tell me when to put your vinegar in my laundry? Is it in the wash or the rinse water?

MRS. B.O.A.

I use it in the last rinse water.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you ever put frozen vegetables such as peas—to cook and worry that the peas in the center of the frozen lump won't get cooked without overcooking the loose peas?

Well, before opening the package . . . whack it! Whack all four sides. Then, take hold of the opposite end and whack all four sides again. I whack hard on my kitchen counter.

If you are wrecklessly violent you will find when you open a package that each pea is separate and ready to be cooked evenly with its fellows.

C.M.B.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a tip for pie bakers: If the filling for your berry pie seems a little too sweet or flat . . . add the juice of one-half lemon! This not only takes away the too-sweet taste but brings out the flavor of the berries.

BESSIE PIROIT.

DEAR GALS: It works! I just made a cherry pie.

And incidentally while we're on the subject of cherry pies, I would like to bring to your attention the fact that food coloring can always be added to cherries when baking pies.

I added a few drops of red coloring into my thickening. It made it just look like the professionals! Now, don't tell me that old psychology doesn't work. My family ate this one with relish.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep these little, yellow squashes from getting limp after a day or two, I wash them and pop them into a plastic bag, fold the end over, and fasten it. And they keep at least two weeks in the vegetable drawer of my refrigerator.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mt. Union Vocalists Sing For Travelers Club Members

Music by a vocal quartet from Mount Union College presented the program at the annual Travelers Club Christmas Tea Tuesday in the Ruth Smucker House.

Norman Summer, a member of the quartet, introduced the other three, Miss Pat Polen, Miss Anne Wehner and Joseph Orin, and then told the history of early carols.

The group sang, "Holly and Ivy," "Lo, How a Rose, E'er Blooming," a Coventry carol from the time of Herod, a carol of English interspersed with Latin phrases, "Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Tannenbaum." A solo, "I Wonder as I Wander," was presented by Miss Polen and Joseph Orin sang, "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head."

The group then sang a number of popular songs of the holiday season, "Carol of the Drums," "White Christmas," "Winter Wonderland," "Jingle Bells," and "Chestnuts Roasting On the Open Fire."

Mrs. David Cope and Mrs. Louie Mulbach presided at the tea service at a red covered table centered with green candles and flanked with a replica of Santa Claus seated in his reindeer drawn sleigh. Members of the tea committee were Mrs. Maurice Sandrock, chairman, Mrs. Walter Null, Mrs. Lloyd Gordon, Miss Helen French, Mrs. Floyd McKee and Miss Mabel Chapman.

Girls Enjoy Party

Girls employed in the office of the E. W. Bliss Company were feted by the company at a Christmas dinner party Tuesday evening at the Salem Golf Club.

White pine interspersed with large poinsettias arranged on a red and gold runner and decorated with red candles in gold and silver candelabra trimmed the white covered tables seating the 32 guests. Favors were red satin place markers.

A gift exchange was a feature of the evening with Miss Minnie Schuster as Santa, who also presented each girl with a gift from the company.

Christmas Cards

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's little ordeals is the problem of Christmas cards.
Every year the head of the house swears that this year the family isn't going to mail cards. "Waste of time and money," he mutters. "Nobody pays any attention to them."
Well, then a few stray cards start dribbling into him, and he panics. He decides to fight back. He goes into a stationery store and as he browses among the nickel cards a salesman tells him: "Don't you think it is more tasteful to send a personalized Christmas message?"
"Here's a cute one showing two fat Santa Clauses trying to get down the same chimney. We can offer this one with your name on it—seasonal good wishes from Oswald J. Gillmuddy and family—for $75 a thousand. Will you require three or four thousand?"
"I'll take 500," says the man of the house, feeling a bit cheap.
So he takes the 500 cards home. "A Christmas card without anything written on it seems so cold" suggests the wife.

But what to write? After heated arguments man and spouse agree the simple thing to do is to write the same thing on every card: "The world wouldn't be the same without you."
That says it all and commits no one to anything.
So—supposing you're the man of the house—you start addressing the cards.
After you finish those to all you want to remember—your close friends, your landlord, your boss, and people you owe money to—your wife looks up and remarks: "Dear, we still have 475 left. What will we do with them?"
The sensible thing would be to throw the remainder down the incinerator. But no—that seems wasteful.
So you start sending them to half-forgotten people, like the Lemmings, that gay couple you met on a cruise to Bermuda in 1948.
Then you get out your old high school annual and send greetings to all the old familiar faces you knew when young.
"That's better," remarks your wife cheerfully. "Now we only have 450 left."

What to do? Your Christmas cards now become deadly weapons of good cheer. You decide to send one to every person you ever met in life and you envy or have a grudge against.
"My, this is real fun," remarks your wife. "Won't they all feel guilty when they open the envelopes? I just wish I could see the expression on their faces."
When you finish this list, you find you now have only 339 cards left. What to do now?
You pick up a telephone book and begin addressing cards at random to the names therein. When the 500 cards are finally finished, you chuck them into the nearest mailbox.
Your reward?
Before the first of January you receive in return some 385 hurriedly sent New Year's cards from foes and total strangers bearing such messages as: "The world wouldn't be the same without you either"
"The best to you always, Mr. and Mrs. Gillmuddy."
"Great to hear from you, Oswald, old pal."
"Now we must all get together for dinner again real soon."

There is nothing quite like a Christmas card to wide one's wonderful world of fellowship.

West Branch School Pupils Begin Recess Over Holidays

The wheels of learning in West Branch School District come to a temporary halt today as the student body and teachers begin a 16-day holiday recess.

Clinton Heacock, executive head, said final classes of the year were held today and will be resumed Jan. 7.

The two-week close-down will give construction workers and equipment installers more elbow room to make progress on the new high school building.

The three days after Christmas will be utilized to set up permanent laboratory equipment in the general science, biology, chemistry and physics headquarters. This includes tables, cabinets, sinks and other pieces.

While books will be momentarily left behind, the songsters and musicians of the high school will be busy with musical presentations.

The freshman chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Paris, vocal instructor, will present a program at the public Christmas sing being sponsored by the Beloit Ruritan Club Saturday night at 7:30 at Quaker City Plaza.

Santa Claus will pull presents from his sack to give to children near the lighted tree.

At the same time the freshmen are performing, the high school concert band, composed of 75 students under the direction of Daniel R. Swanger, will present the annual band concert in the high school auditorium. Songs befitting the season have been chosen chiefly.

The annual high school Christmas dance will immediately follow the band concert.

The third period today at the high school was devoted to wandering caroling in the halls by the 80-voice senior high choral group.

In a style traditional at the school for many years, singers hung a holiday wreath on each door.

both Pan Am and TWA aircraft and properties would be headed by Juan L. Trippe, Pan Am president. The No. 2 position would go to Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., president of TWA.

The complicated plan calls for the new company, Pan American World Airlines, to issue 18,020,218 shares of common stock.

Of the total, 6,674 155 would be exchanged on a one-for-one basis for present TWA shares and 11,346,063 would be turned over on a 1.7-for-1 ratio to the existing Pan Am.

With the Patients

The condition of Richard Lantier, 25, of RD 1, Leetonia, who was admitted to Salem City Hospital Thursday for treatment of injuries suffered in a truck accident on Route 164 south of Columbiana, is reported as fairly good.

Donald LeRoy Albright, 26, of 127 Morton St., Lisbon, was admitted to Salem City Hospital at 11 a.m. today for treatment of a possible back injury received when he slipped and fell while at work at the Buckeye Coal Company.

Kathleen Deemer, 16, daughter of Paul Deemer of Deerfield, was treated and released at 1:20 p.m. Thursday at Alliance City Hospital for a sprained right ankle received when she fell during gym class at Alliance High School.

Columbiana

James Magill has been appointed chairman of the 1963 March of Dimes collection in Columbiana, which is scheduled for January. He was appointed by Richard G. Brian, county recorder, who is serving as county chairman of the drive.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fratz is a patient at Salem City Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder were recent dinner guests of her aunt, Mrs. Grace Frazier of Wellsville and also visited Mrs. Cora Nickles.

A Christmas dance will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 tonight at Fairfield Junior High School for Junior high students.

Deaths Funerals

Mrs. Emmor Schneider

Mrs. Annie May Schneider, 77, of 1353 N. Ellsworth Ave., died of a sudden heart attack at 4:30 p.m. Thursday in her home following an extended illness.

Born in Alliance Aug. 12, 1885, a daughter of Jacob and Lavina Reynolds McQuiston, she lived in Salem for seven years, coming here from Hanoverton.

Survivors are her husband Emmor Frank Schneider whom she married at Salem Aug. 26, 1903; four daughters, Mrs. Iva Humphrey of Alliance, Mrs. Ethel Myers of Beloit, Mrs. Violet Kuhl of Canton and Mrs. Marilyn Raley of Salem; one son, Emmor B. Schneider of Alliance; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Ackelson of Salem and Mrs. Myrtle Stanley of Beloit; 13 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, with Rev. Lawrence Oney, pastor of the Alliance Baptist Temple, officiating. Burial will be in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Fire Pact

in addition to $2,250 a year, a $15,008 fire truck which the city may use for both its protection and that of the township.

Aldom pointed to the fact that the city has the burden of housing, maintaining and manning the fire truck.

He charged that the councilmen, in passing the ordinance, would "in reality be asking the people of Salem to defray some of the rightful expenses of people who live outside the city limits."

"The cost of a T-bone steak has gone up in recent years. So have other expenses. Why are you willing to agree to continue the city's fire protection to the township for two more years at the identical price we have been extending the service right along?" Aldom asked his Council colleagues.

Councilman Harold J. Asty questioned whether the cost of protecting the township actually exceeds the amount paid to Salem by the trustees.

Cites Levy Amount

Aldom reported that a check by him in the office of the county auditor yesterday revealed that since 1959 Perry Township collected $17,010.41 in fire protection levies. "The township fire levy is resulting in more than $4,000 a year, and that's due to go on through 1966," declared Aldom.

After the ordinance was passed last night, several of the councilmen agreed that the township trustees should be apprised of Council proceedings and that the trustees should be advised to prepare for a modification in the fire protection costs two years from now.

Post Office

"They have made this the easiest holiday work period in the history of the Salem Post Office."

Reasbeck pointed out that the new post office building aided in a more efficient work system during the holiday rush, with the volume of letters and packages easier to handle.

The postmaster recommends airmail for any letters going to distant destinations.

County Judge Donbar Sworn In Thursday

County Judge Luther Donbar of Columbiana was sworn in Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Donbar will begin a four-year term as judge of the Northwest Area Court at Salem where he is completing his second two-year term.

He served many years as justice of the peace at Columbiana before running for county judge.

Office Changes Discussed by GOP

State and district positions that may be available after the new administration of Gov.-Elect James A. Rhodes takes over the state government were discussed by the Columbiana County Republican Executive Committee at a meeting Thursday night in Lisbon Village Hall.

The positions include those of deputy registrars of motor vehicles, the agents in each community who issue auto license plates and driver's licenses on a fee basis. The positions traditionally change with a turnover in administration from one major party to another.

When positions are available, the county committee may make endorsements to the Rhodes GOP administration. The new governor will take over from Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat, whom he defeated in the November general election.

The committee also discussed plans for the municipal, village and township elections in 1963. Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon presided.

Death Toll

The council also estimated that between 27,000 and 33,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries during the period.

The safety council's spread of 100 in its holiday projection of fatalities covers a range including the all-time traffic death toll for any holiday — 706 during the four-day Christmas of 1956. The lowest, four-day Christmas toll since World War II was 535 during Christmas weekend of 1951. In last year's three-day holiday, there were 524 traffic fatalities.

The safety council said a non-holiday weekend at this time of year could be expected to account for 470 traffic deaths. But an Associated Press count of highway fatalities in the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7 to midnight Tuesday, Dec. 11, showed 371 deaths.

The highest over-all fatality count for a Christmas was 884 in 1956. The record death toll in all types of accidents is 924, set in the fourth of July holiday period last year.

Petition Received By Commissioners

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday accepted a 300-name petition from St. Clair and Liverpool Township freeholders requesting the commissioners to set up plans for a regional water district in their area.

The names on the petition will be checked by the commissioners prior to further action.

In other business they purchased 40,000 checks from the Columbus Blank Book Company on its low bid of $275. The checks will be used in the auditor's office.

A slag grant of $300 was made to Center Township trustees for road maintenance.

Purse Thief Sought by City Police

Purses of two women were stolen from a car parked at 271 S. Broadway Thursday afternoon as the women were busy carrying Christmas treats to Fellowship Hall of Emmanuel Lutheran Church in preparation for a Girl Scout Christmas party.

Mrs. Jack Naylor of 1170 Newgarden St. and Mrs. Carl Weber of 988 Jones Drive told police they were only gone from Mrs. Naylor's car for a moment when they returned and found a man sitting inside the car. He told them he was with a construction crew working nearby and that the car needed to be moved.

After the man left, the women noticed their purses were missing. Only a small amount of cash and some papers were in the purses, according to Mrs. Naylor and Mrs. Weber. One of the women was carrying money in her coat pocket.

Police Chief Martin Lutsch expressed a belief that the person who took the purses might be the same one who a few moments later stole a car owned by Sam D. Thompson of 784 Summit St. Thompson told police he parked his car in front of 387 S. Broadway, and when he returned about 2 p.m., the car was gone.

City police found the abandoned car at 5:30 p.m. parked in the 200 block on Broadway.

The women offered this description of the man they saw in the car: About 5 feet eleven; 42 years old; in yellowish gray, three-quarter leather jacket; well built with short wavy brown hair.

club. Polaris presented an answer.

British sources said Polaris can be mounted on British submarines now under construction and the cost of the changeover is not an over-riding factor.

The impact of this British-American meeting is intended to go far beyond the substitution of Polaris for Skybolt in the British arsenal. Machinery is being set in motion which can permit Britain and France to have a form of independent nuclear deterrent — an increasingly sensitive issue in Europe — while still coordinating nuclear defense strategy with that of the United States behind a single big shield.

The Kennedy administration insists that eventually strictly national nuclear deterrent forces must disappear from the Western alliance and be merged into a single defense effort.

Kennedy is reported confident he can convince Congress he is on the right track in the program he discussed with Macmillan.

Kiwanis Club Hears High School Chorus

The Salem High School Chorus presented its annual Christmas program for the Kiwanis Club Thursday in the Memorial Building.

Under the direction of F. dwin Miller, the high school singers offered sacred, secular and novelty music of the season. Vocal soloists were Gary Hession, Gregory Gross, Lynne Miller and Clyde Miller. Piano accompanists were Linda Crawford and Lois Whinnery.

Don Vincent was chairman of the program attended by approximately 60 Kiwanians.

Summitville Council Has Final Session

SUMMITVILLE—Village Council held its final meeting of the year Friday night at the home of the clerk, Mrs. Marjorie Roberts, following an established custom.

A resolution was passed accepting the amounts and rates of income stipulated by the County Budget Commission.

Bills of $340 were ordered paid, and it was reported the tennis court fence has been repaired by a motorist whose car crashed through it some time ago.

Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Earl Rogers, treasurer, served lunch. Mayor Ernest Phillips presided.

County Election Board To Close Over Holiday

EAST LIVERPOOL—After more than a generation of working on most holidays, the County Election Board's staff finally will take some extra time off.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, announced the office on W. 6th St. will be closed from 4:30 this afternoon until 8:30 Wednesday morning to give the staff a long Christmas weekend.

The staff is caught up in its work—in fact it's well ahead of elections, O'Hanlon said.

Many holidays observed by federal schedule in preparation for 1963 for the Election Board staff. Many come a the height of the rush of election preparations. For instance, the staff rarely takes time off for such holidays as Birthday and Lincoln's Birthday.

Firemen's Auxiliary Has Christmas Party

NORTH GEORGETOWN—North Georgetown Firemen's Auxiliary met Wednesday for a Christmas party and gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Wesley Runk, with 14 members present.

The hostess gift was won by Mrs. C. E. Motts. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mr. A. L. Reichenbach.

Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Earl Wang. Mrs. Paul Wang will be co-hostess.

William Bell, 50, of Tampa, its fireman; and O.B. Jones, 38, of Haines City, driver of the truck.

Seventeen persons, most of them train passengers bound north for Christmas, were admitted to the 35-bed Okeechobee general hospital.

Five others were checked over or treated for minor injuries at doctors' offices.

Among the train's passengers were a dozen Miami Military Academy cadets heading home for Christmas. Several fellow passengers said they wouldn't have been able to get out of the wreck without help from the lads, aged 12 to 17.

Ambulances and fire apparatus rushed from Sebring, Fort Pierce and Vero Beach, all about 40 miles distant, to the community of 7,000 on Lake Okeechobee's north shore in south central Florida. Okeechobee is about 100 miles north of Miami.

Tech School Students Tour Deming Plant

Twenty-two senior mechanical students of the Salem School of Technology toured the plant of the Deming Division-Crane Company Wednesday morning.

Robert Schuck and Jack Bertolotto of the Deming Company conducted the tour.

The school will recess for Christmas vacation from Friday noon until Jan. 2.

What Happens
When Father and Son
Work Together?
A True Story

I am the father of a newspaperboy. Some years ago I was a newspaperboy myself.

Through my own early business experiences I learned the importance of promptness, the power of courtesy, and the value of earning and saving. The watch I am wearing today was purchased at 50c per week from my route earnings.

So, when my son, Tom, decided to launch his own business, I readily consented.

I had some reservations, however. He just didn't seem to have the proper qualifications for a newspaperboy. His respect for property was virtually nil. He didn't know the meaning of the word "promptness." His arithmetic and knowledge of money were poor. I was resigned to the fact that it was I, not he, who would have to take on the responsibility of this new job.

Then something happened. The relationship between myself and my son began to change. I suddenly began thinking seriously about him and his problems—perhaps for the first time in months.

Since it was now necessary for me to spend more time with him, I became conscious of his learning processes. And I began to react to him in terms of his needs and outlook on life rather than mine.

This was a moment of great reawakening—something that was to affect both our lives. I could see now that too often in the past, when I reacted to my son's behavior—whether good or bad—I was judging him from my position in society, not his. Therefore, I was failing to think in terms of his development as a boy, his understanding, his potentials, and his problems.

I am grateful indeed for this opportunity which brought me and my son closer together. Each of us is benefiting. Each of us is growing because of it.

Why Does This Boy Know All The Answers?

With Jim Brown, getting an unbroken string of "A's" is a habit. Whether it's in math, public speaking, civics, or some other subject, Jim usually comes up with the correct answer. More than that, Jim is always alert, cooperative, and friendly. "A perfect student," one of his teachers recently said.

There are two good reasons why Jim does well in school. First, his parents are genuinely interested in his school work. They give him encouragement and help when he needs it.

Second, Jim is able to supplement what he learns in the classroom with the practical experiences which he gains in his day-to-day activities as a newspaperboy. In the conduct of his own business, he has learned how important it is to set goals, then reach them. He has learned how to accept responsibility and how to manage his time. He has built up a sense of pride in self development. . . . These things which he has learned through his own business he applies to his school work. No wonder he knows all the answers!

attended by Sebring Superintendent of Schools Donald Wise, Sebring's attorney William Fowler of Youngstown, W. C. Smith, Mahoning County superintendent of schools, Robert L. Rohe of the State Department of Education and Bernard E. Diehl of the Teachers Retirement Fund.

The two schools appeared closer to at least partial agreement after yesterday's meeting and one held Dec. 12 in the Mahoning County prosecutor's office in Youngstown. The earlier conference was held in an attempt to come to an agreed stipulation of facts regarding the declaratory judgment sought by the Mahoning County Board of Education to clear up the distribution of tax money following the district's July, 1960 split.

The agreement on stipulation of facts should shorten a hearing on the distribution of money. Atty. Blumenstiel said. The declaratory judgment suit which had been scheduled for Dec. 17 was postponed indefinitely after the conference five days earlier.

The pension plan was the major concession granted in an agreement which the USPA said will cost its members at least $1.5 million over the life of the contract. About 4,000 employees are affected.

In Effect Dec. 1

The agreement went into effect Dec. 1. In the first year, management will contribute two cents hourly for all straight-time hours of every employee, earmarking the money for the pension fund. The contribution will jump to four cents hourly in the second year and seven cents in the third year.

The IBOP said an insurance concern has compiled data which will seek to establish the level of benefits which the contributions will support.

An actuarial survey has been made from the data, the IBOP said. The data was sent to 10 insurance companies in the form of a questionnaire. Their replies are due at IBOP headquarters next Thursday. The questionnaires and the actuarial study will be threshed over in deciding which company will be the carrier for the pension plan.

City Hall to Close For Holiday Period

All City Hall employees will be on the job Saturday morning, but the municipal building will be closed from Saturday noon until Dec. 26, Mayor Dean B. Cramer announced today.

The City Hall employees will have Monday as an extra holiday. Usually only a portion of the employees work on Saturday morning.

Police and fire departments will be in usual operation throughout the holidays.

CARD PARTY POSTPONED

SUMMITVILLE—St. John's Catholic Church card party, scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed until Jan. 5 because of the weather. Mrs. Mikael Dangelo, president of the Altar and Rosary Society which sponsors the event, said.

Christmas Story By Lucrece Beale

(Chapter 17)
MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL
Fortunately someone had left a row boat tied up inside the zoo gates and Mr. Shnoo seated the Queen in the bow of the boat while he and Santa took the oars. "How extraordinary!!" said the Queen. "I've never inspected a zoo by boat before. I must say it is quite restful!!"

Some swans paddled alongside and nodded gracefully to the Queen as if they knew she was royalty. A raft of bunny rabbits floated by followed by a crocodile who nudged the Queen's boat curiously before drifting off.

"How perfectly wonderful!!" exclaimed the Queen. "You do not keep the tame animals caged in. They are at home all over the zoo!!"

AT THIS MOMENT the boat came to a sudden halt and although Santa and Mr. Shnoo rowed furiously, nothing happened. Then the boat began to rise from the water and they saw to their horror that Molly, the hippopotamus, whom they had forgotten to return to her cage, had swum under the boat and was now trying to stand up.

For a moment the boat teetered on Molly's back before splashing down into the water, fortunately right side up. The Queen was shaken but quite game and thought it all a splendid lark. She took some peanuts from her purse and threw them to Molly.

Mr. Shnoo and Santa rowed on. They showed the Queen the bear with the dinosaur teeth, the monkeys who lived in the reindeer's antlers, and Henrietta, the skating elephant.

The tour was almost ended when a dreadful ruckus broke out in the lion house. The large cats roared and at the same time a man screamed a most awful scream.

SANTA and Mr. Shnoo bent their backs to the oars and in two seconds the boat landed on the steps of the lion house. It could go no farther because the water had receded from the house and the floor was dry. Mr. Shnoo and Santa and the Queen rushed into the house and there they saw a fearful sight!

Crookshank stood in the cage holding his hands before his face and screaming while the lions leaped at him. The angry lions had already ripped Crookshank's trousers and torn away his coat.

Mr. Shnoo leaped past an attendant and rushed into the cage. Crookshank screamed, "Save me! Save me!!"

"Down Lucy," said Mr. Shnoo quietly. "Flossy! Cedric! Go away! Edgar, quiet!"

Calmly he laid his hand on each lion's head and obediently they crept away. Mr. Shnoo picked Crookshank up in his arms and carried him out of the cage.

"It was his fault!" cried the attendant. "He unfastened the cage and tried to turn the lions loose. Said he wanted them to frighten away the Queen. He stuck pins in them to make them wild!"

"IS THIS TRUE?" asked the Queen sternly.

"It's my zoo," said Crookshank lamely.

Then Mr. Shnoo told the Queen how he had bought the zoo from Crookshank and fixed it up and made it what it was today but it wasn't really his until he made the final payment of 1,000 gold pieces.

The Queen said, "It's yours now for I have never seen such a wisely run zoo or a man so good with animals." She opened her purse and drew out a check for 1,000 pieces of gold and tossed it to Crookshank who took it and slunk away.

"I should like," said the Queen, "for this zoo to be known as my favorite zoo and I should like to present it with 1,000 gold pieces each Christmas as long as I reign."

MR. SHNOO turned quite pink with happiness. "It shall be called the Queen's Zoo," he said, "and it will grow better each year."

He looked around for Santa but the fat little fellow had gone. Suddenly they heard the jingling of bells overhead. They rushed out doors and saw eight reindeer circling overhead. Santa was perched on the very last one.

"Good gracious!" cried the Queen. "I had forgotten Christmas is almost here!!"

"For me," said Mr. Shnoo, "Christmas has already come!"

He waved happily to Santa and the Queen waved and Santa waved back. And they all shouted together, "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all!"

Public Attitude Toward Mental Illness Changes

EDITOR'S NOTE—More and more, the man who feels emotionally distressed seeks professional help and makes no secret of it. This, psychiatrists say, is a healthy development in the struggle to prevent and treat mental illness today. Here, in the last of a series of five special articles, is a report on how the public attitude toward emotional affliction is changing.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Recently, a man placed a personal notice in his hometown newspaper.
He said he'd be away for a time at a hospital, and urged friends to write him there.

His new address—a mental hospital.
He felt no embarrassment in admitting to emotional ailments, a need for treatment, and expectation it would work.
It is one straw in the wind of public change to regard mental illness as objectively as heart disease or TB, without stigma, shame or fear.

People don't "catch" emotional illness just to be mean or because they are weak, or feel sorry for themselves, says Dr. C. Hardin Branch, president of the American Psychiatric Association. Their treatment calls for understanding by family, friends, and the public.
Their sickness differs in one important respect — they don't seem to want to be helped, and thus don't evoke sympathy, the Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health points out.

This expert group was authorized by Congress in 1955 to survey the nation's mental health needs, and it issued a report last year calling urgently for a vast build-up in facilities to treat mental and emotional ailments.

Neurotics—the man with a constant grudge, the woman always nit-picking at faults in everyone else—are simply hard to get along with.

One old fear is that the mentally sick usually go berserk. But the crime rate of discharged mental patients actually is lower than it is among the general population, the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene found in a study of more than 10,000 male patients.

How does one know if he needs help?

Mr. William Menninger advises emotional checkups, much as sensible people have regular physical checkups. While there is no simple test for mental health, he lists some questions to be asked in an emotional checkup:

How do you get along with other people? When a situation gets really rough, do you lose your temper, become jittery or paralyzed, or so anxious you cannot function? How much fun do you get from constructive, creative giving of yourself?

How do you react to frustrations? By quitting? By realizing you cannot win all the time?

How free are you from anxiety? What outlets do you have when you are tense or anxious? If you are troubled, do you really try to seek help?

"The essence of all these suggestions is the recognition that we have to have the courage, before we look at other people, to be able to look at ourselves," he writes.

Depressions, the feeling you've missed out in life, continual tensions, are some common signs of emotional disturbances.

Life brings changes and losses, particularly in middle age, says Dr. Harry Levinson of the Menninger Foundation. Some ways to make up for losses include activities to express aggressive feelings, through sports, gardening or walking. You can find new friends, new hobbies and interests, new stimulations. One of the healthiest avenues is public service, volunteering to help church, social agencies, or political organizations, he adds.

Dr. Karl Menninger suggests that frequently what we need is not "don't-give-a-damn pills," but "do-give-a-damn pills" to prompt us to be useful and constructive.

As one point for concern, the joint commission declares this country faces a major crisis in mental health unless professional personnel and other programs are increased many fold within 10 years.

It calls for tripling mental health expenditures in the next decade for more basic research, for new state hospitals of no more than 1,000 beds each, smaller mental hospitals within the communities, more psychiatric beds in general hospitals, and for 3,600 full-time mental health clinics in the nation.

On the plus side, the budget of the National Institute of Mental Health was increased $35 millions this year, to $143,550,000. The National Association for Mental Health is raising about $4 million for research and other programs.

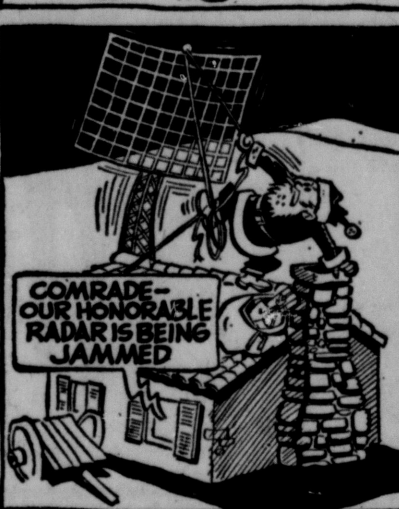

Now there is a tide of "turmoil, creativity and experimentation" in mental health, says Dr. Robert Felix of the institute.
If this continues, it "will inevitably increase our understanding of human nature and man. It can help us become constructively adaptive as individuals in an increasingly complex and competitive society."

IT'S GOING TO BE A LITTLE TOUGHER THIS YEAR

Jane Wyatt Now Likes 'Father Knows Best'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It has been three years since Robert Young, Jane Wyatt and their television family made their final episode of "Father Knows Best," but the series, in re-runs and re-runs has been playing constantly in prime network time.

During the past season, it has made a fan of one viewer who, quite frankly, never enjoyed the program before: Jane Wyatt.

Miss Wyatt, in New York briefly to appear as hostess on Sunday night's Christmas show on NBC's Telephone Hour, confessed that during all the successful years of the show, she couldn't bear watching it.

"I could see where scenes had been edited out, where I had done something I didn't like—all the flaws," she said. "But now I think it's a pretty good show and I actually find myself enjoying it. Of course, I've forgotten all the scenes, and I don't remember the plots. So it is really like watching for the first time."

In private life, Miss Wyatt, wife of a Los Angeles business man and mother of two grown sons, spends considerable time in good works. She is on the board of the Los Angeles unit of the National Foundation and local chairman of the "Mother's March." Through this interest, she has made the organization's filmed appeal for funds, to be shown on most television stations during campaign time in January. She was also hostess on a star-studded variety show for the National Foundation's campaign which will also be shown on many local stations.

Viewers who complain about the lack of thoughtful, enlightening television must have been pleased with Wednesday night's shows—if, as was unlikely, they were watching their sets.

"Sabotage in South Africa," on "CBS Reports" was a powerful and shocking survey of the operation of black-white segregation in the Republic of South Africa. It was all the more disturbing and revealing because it was narrated in a clam, albeit editorial manner.

At the end of the evening, there was NBC's film of a voyage of a

Area Man Unhurt As Wheel Drops Off Car

EAST LIVERPOOL — A 47-year-old Hanoverton area man escaped unhurt Thursday at 5:02 p.m. when the right front wheel dropped off his 1955 model auto on busy W. 3rd St., causing the car to slide across the center line before screeching to a halt, police reported.

Robert Francis Strabla of Han-overton RD 1 told police he was driving west about 15 to 20 miles an hour when the bizarre accident occurred.

Luckily, there was no oncoming auto in the eastbound lane, Patrolman Orin C. Smith said in the accident report. Officers blamed a broken wheel spindle. The auto was towed to a service station.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Learning to Relax Not Easy

Are you sick and tired of feeling tired and sick? If so you may belong to the vast army of persons who have not learned to relax properly.

A large part of the illness people suffer today is due to the Big Three: nervous tension, fatigue, and sleeplessness. According to Dr. S. W. Gutwirth in his book, "How to Sleep Well" (Vantage Press, Dr. Brandstadt 1959), many persons believe that all they need to do to relax is to go fishing, read a novel, or listen to music. All of these things are forms of activity and, although they may help you achieve a change of pace, they are not a relaxation because relaxation is a state of perfect inactivity.

Dr. Gutwirth explains how, even while lying in bed in a darkened room with your eyes closed, your thoughts cause various skeletal muscles (those under your direct control as opposed to the muscles of your heart and digestive tract) to contract.

YOU CANNOT, for example, visualize past or future events in your mind's eye without contracting some of your eye muscles and you cannot imagine or recall a conversation without contracting some of the muscles of speech.

With persistent practice you can learn first of all to recognize the difference between a feeling of tension and its absence (relaxation) in each and every skeletal muscle in the body. This is not an easy task for human beings, although the so-called lower animals seem to have mastered it.

THIS WOULD SUGGEST that we had it once and at some time between our infancy and our present state we lost it. It is possible, however, to get it back. I can think of no more important pursuit than this for the person who is beset by the Big Three.

When you can recognize tension in any given muscle you will also recognize that there are degrees of letting go. If you are to relax you must settle for nothing less than a complete letting go in every part of your body. This, too, requires practice.

It is important to realize that you cannot force yourself to relax because force is activity and any resort to force is a return to a state of tension. Relaxation is a complete absence of force.

IN AN EARLIER column I outlined some suggestions on how to relax. I might add that when lying on the bed the whole weight of the body must settle onto the part of the bed it touches. Tension in the back, thigh, or arm muscles will shift the weight of part of your body from its natural center of gravity to another part. This is faulty relaxation.

Many persons have developed a habit of not going to bed when they are tired. They fight going to bed just as children often do. They want to play one more hand of bridge, or listen to one more television program—anything to put off the "evil" moment of letting go or unwinding.

You cannot do this without storing up trouble for yourself; may be not today and maybe not this year but eventually something has to give. Ulcers, high blood pressure, colitis and many other ills, if not produced by fatigue, are at least aggravated by it. If you give your wonderful body a break you will add years to your life and enjoyment to your years.

Matter of Fact

Lead is one of the most durable metals in existence. What better proof than the fact that ornamental castings of lead a least 2,000 years old have been found. Further proof: numerous examples of lead water pipe, still in serviceable condition, have been discovered in Roman ruins.

Cincinnati Gets Scare, Then Trims Dayton 44-37

Bearcats Post 25th Straight

Bradley Chalks Up 6th; UCLA Wins

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Almost everyone agrees that Cincinnati's basketball winning string now at 25 games, eventually must end.

The question remains: Who's to do it?
Dayton made a valiant effort Thursday night, playing a slow, deliberate game in an effort to control the Bearcat scoring punch. When it was over, the Flyers had been shot down 44-37.

It was the seventh notch of the season for Coach Ed Jucker's team, ranked first in the nation and shooting for a third straight NCAA title. Their scoring output, however, was the lowest for the Bearcats since a 57-40 loss to St. Louis two seasons ago.

In some of the other major action on a relatively light schedule, Bradley won its sixth of the season 76-65 over South Carolina. Missouri came from behind and clipped Tennessee 54-47. Southern Methodist whipped Minnesota 100-80 and St. Mary's of California scored a 94-71 rout over Creighton.

Dayton clamped a lid on Ron Bonham, Cincinnati's top scorer, and trailed the sluggish Bearcats by a single point, 18-17, at the half.

Cincinnati didn't take a solid lead until late in the game when George Wilson blocked a Dayton field goal try and then scored two quick baskets.

Bonham was held to eight points, but Tom Thacker broke through for 21, leading both teams. He got all but seven of Cincinnati's first half points as the Bearcats had to struggle to stay even.

Missouri, trailing by as many as 12 points in the second half, came from behind in the closing minutes and stalled out the victory over Tennessee. Don Early hit six points in the last 90 seconds.

In some of the other major results, New Mexico topped Colorado State 54-48. Detroit edged touring San Jose State 82-76 in overtime. Alabama romped over Richmond 72-56. Utah State beat Iowa State 87-52. Syracuse nipped Rochester 60-58. Santa Clara downed Loyola of New Orleans 74-53. Idaho spilled Washington State 94-57, and Washington defeated Montana 59-30.

Miami, Houston Finish Training For Bowl Clash

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — As Houston and Miami of Ohio put finishing touches on their Tangerine Bowl preparation, coaches expressed both optimism and pessimism in regard to Saturday's gridiron display in Orlando.

Coach John Pont of Miami was worried about his team. "It's been four weeks since we've played a game," he said. "Houston closed its season two weeks ago." The Miami squad arrived from bitterly cold Ohio the first of the week.

But Houston mentor Bill Yeoman left no doubt about his Cougars' preparation. "The boys are in good condition and I'm sure they'll give us a good performance," Houston carries a 6-4 record into the contest.

Both coaches agreed the winner of the 17th annual Tangerine Trophy was a toss-up.

"It should be very close," Yeoman said. "We have a lot of respect for their personnel and they're the biggest team we've played this year." The Miami line averages 226 pounds and had an 8-1-1 season mark.

Pont admitted "we have an explosive ball club," but added, "Houston is very sound defensively."

Five Companies Battle Blaze

Second Fire In 3 Weeks Hits Wheeling Downs Race Track

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — The second major fire in less than three weeks raged through Wheeling Downs Race Track Thursday night and early today, destroying the grandstand and reportedly causing heavy damage to the clubhouse and administration building.

Five fire companies battled the blaze for more than two hours before bringing it under control. Wind-fanned flames hampered the firemen's efforts.

There was no report of injuries. But as a precautionary measure prized thoroughbred horses were removed from the track stables about 100 yards from the grandstands located on Wheeling Island in the Ohio River.

Firemen would give no estimate of damages. However, extensive renovations were just recently completed at the track which is valued at $1,350,000.

Cause of the blaze was not known immediately.

A winter race meet was scheduled to get underway at the track Dec. 26.

Thirteen horses perished and major damage resulted from a fire that erupted at the track stables Nov. 26.

AFL Title Clash Is Sunday

Houston Favored To Beat Dallas Texans For Crown

HOUSTON (AP) — The odds makers say the Houston Oilers are a touchdown favorite for Sunday's American Football League championship game but statistics on the two regular season games with the Dallas Texans indicate the game should be a toss-up.

The Oilers and Texans split the games of Oct. 28 and Nov. 4 with Dallas holding only a 27-yard edge on rushing and Houston leading in passes by only 11 yards.

The biggest difference in the statistics for the two games finds Dallas with seven pass interceptions. Houston had three. Six of the Dallas interceptions came on Oct. 28 when the Texans ran over the Oilers, 31-7.

Six of the Dallas steals also came off George Blanda, who had 42 of his passes intercepted this year compared to only 22 last season when he was the league's Player of the Year.

The interceptions may have erased part of the glamor but Pop Ivy, the Oilers coach, is among those saying Blanda is the man who makes the Oilers click.

Blanda has ignored his interceptions and pulled the Oilers from behind six times this season.

Blanda's record in the two regular season games with the Texans was surpassed by Len Dawson, Dallas' league-leading passer.

Dawson completed 31 of 47 passes for 385 yards and three touchdowns. Blanda completed 21 of 37 for 298 yards and two touchdowns. Blanda sat on the bench part of the Oct. 28 game.

Charlie Tolar, the first Oiler runner to gain more than 1,000 yards, had a good day with 104 yards in Dallas Nov. 4 when Houston won, 14-6, but was limited to 43 yards in the Oct. 28 game.

Curtis McClinton, the Dallas halfback who was named AFL's Rookie of the Year, led the ground gainers in the game at Houston with 68 yards but was held to 31 in Dallas.

Lou Plans To Sign With Giants

Slaby Will Compete In Grid All-Star Contest At Tucson

Lou Slaby, who plans to sign a New York Giants contract eventually, will compete with the Major College All-Stars against the Minor College All-Stars at Tucson, Arizona Dec. 29.

The former Salem football, basketball and track star just completed another successful campaign with the University of Pittsburgh football team.

A senior at Pitt, the 230-pound athlete was chosen by Denver of the AFL and New York of the NFL during the annual draft of players by both pro loops recently.

Slaby appeared in 66 minutes of combat with the Panthers during the past season, mostly as a linebacker on defense.

He was chosen by Denver during the fourth round of the AFL draft, and was a fifth round selection of the Giants at the NFL meeting.

Slaby has tentative plans to participate in the Pro-Drafts Bowl at Baltimore, Maryland, Jan. 6.

He will leave from Salem for Tucson Sunday.

Slaby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Slaby of 394 West 10th Street.

Packers' Back Says Knee OK

Paul Hornung Will Be Ready For Championship Contest

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The true condition of Paul Hornung, the "Golden Boy" of Green Bay, is one of the most puzzling factors involved in weighing the chances of the Packers and the New York Giants in their National Football League Dec. 30 title game at Yankee Stadium.

Hornung, a part-time worker since his right knee was twisted in the first period of an Oct. 14 game with the Minnesota Vikings, insists he is all right. So does coach Vince Lombardi. Since he was injured, Hornung's extra point and field goal kicking duties have been taken over by Jerry Kramer.

The word from Green Bay is that all the Packers, including Hornung and Dan Currie, will be in good physical condition for the big game. Currie, veteran left linebacker, also has an injured knee.

Coach Allie Sherman and his Giants are taking nothing for granted. They are getting ready for Hornung and also Tom Moore, his capable replacement, at left halfback. Many regarded Moore about on a par with Hornung as a runner but not as adept at throwing the running pass on the option, although he has passed for two touchdowns.

Hornung ruined the Giants last year in the playoff game, scoring 19 points for a record in the 37-0 rout of New York at Green Bay. He made 80 yards in 20 carries and scored a touchdown, kicked three field goals from the 17, 22 and 19 and added four extra points. A few days before the game he had been named the NFL's Player-of-the-Year, an honor accorded to teammate Jim Taylor this season.

Edges Mays, Aaron For Crown

Robinson Is NL Slugging Champ

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson, Cincinnati's hard-hitting outfielder, edged Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Willie Mays of San Francisco to win the National League slugging championship in 1962 for the third consecutive season.

The official averages released today showed that Robinson piled up 380 total bases in 609 times at bat for a .624 average. Aaron had 366 total bases in 592 at bats for a .618 mark while Mays had the most total bases in the circuit, 382, in 621 at bats for .615.

Robinson had 51 doubles, 21 triples and 39 homers among his 208 hits. He won the slugging title in 1961 with .611 and 1960 with .595. Robinson also was hit most of ten by pitched balls, 11, and tied with Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski for the most intentional bases on balls, 16.

Eddie Mathews, of Milwaukee led in receiving bases on balls with 101 while rookie Ken Hubbs of Chicago struck out the most times, 129 and grounded into the most double plays, 20.

Among players with a minimum of 502 plate appearances, Felipe Alou, San Francisco, and Don Blasingame, Cincinnati, grounded into the fewest doubles plays, 4. San Francisco compiled the highest team slugging average, .441 followed by Cincinnati .417, Milwaukee .403, Los Angeles .400 and Pittsburgh and St. Louis at .394.

Salem Juniors Smash United 58-25 For 4th Straight Win

The Salem Junior High School ninth grade basketball team rallied in the second half to smash United 58-25 at junior high gymnasium Thursday.

Coach Tom Copes aggregation, sporting a 4-0 record, will be idle during the holidays, but will resume action at home against Alliance State Street, Jan. 8.

The Golden Eagles held a 6-4 lead at the end of the initial stanza, and the tilt was deadlocked 20-20 at intermission.

Salem broke the game wide open in the third stanza, chalking up 20 points, while limiting United to three, for a 40-23 margin. The Quakers hit 32.8 per cent of their shots from the field, and 55 per cent of their fouls.

Jim Lantz took scoring honors for Salem with 13 points. Doug Plastow collected 10. Farmer paced United with nine markers. Jim Miller dominated the backboards for Salem as he grabbed 11 rebounds during the fray.

Myers Climbs To 16-1 In Pole Vault

By ROBERT GOLDSTEIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Don Meyers, a shy young man who aspired merely to become a better known athlete, hit a jackpot far beyond his wildest dreams Thursday night by soaring 16 feet, 1 1/4 inch to a world's indoor pole vault record.

Meyers, a post graduate student in physical education at the University of Colorado, made a 1,000-mile overnight train trip sitting up in a coach to compete in the University of Chicago Track Club's 10th Holiday meet.

"I wanted to make a good mark this year in a meet like this so I could get invited to other meets," he said.

The Chicago meet had added luster this year because it was the first test of President Kennedy's call for a truce in the 2 1/2-year feud between the Amateur Athletic Union and the NCAA-backed U.S. Track Federation.

The meet was the first jointly sanctioned by both groups.

Meyers, 22, a fair, slim, 6-footer weighing 165 pounds, hit 13-feet-8 on his first try, using a fiber glass pole he brought along with him.

On his second vault, he cleared 14-6, and on his third, 15-5.

The cross bar at the University of Chicago Fieldhouse then was raised to 16-1 1/4, one half inch above the world indoor record.

Meyers cleared the cross bar without brushing it amid an excited roar from the spectators.

The approved record is 16-3/4 set by John Uelses of the Marines in Boston last Feb. 3.

Meyers' best showing in competition had been 15-3 last year in trying for the national collegiate title.

The world outdoor mark is 16-3/4 by Finland's Pentti Nikula at Kaubava, Finland, last June 22.

The top American outdoor vault is 16-2 by Dave Tork of the Marines at Walnut, Calif., last April 28. Each used the controversial fiber glass pole.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES
Business Opportunity Here's the most sought-after Business Franchise
In America!

If you want to be independent and own your own profitable business—investigate the Complete Firestone Franchise! We now have a proven and successful location available in a town of approx. 15,000 population.
Thousands of successful Firestone dealers all across the country mark this as an OUT-STANDING OPPORTUNITY as it includes not only Firestone tires, batteries and auto accessories, but a complete line of over 5,000 items of nationally known merchandise including wheel goods and housewares with radios, sporting goods, toys, such as big names as Sunbeam,
Spaulding, General Electric, A.
C. DuPont, and the complete line of Philco Appliances and Television.

No experience is necessary—
we will help you train your employees and assist you with advertising, merchandising plans, and sales promotion programs to sell the merchandise.

Write or phone us TODAY.

A word from THERON at the Country Store

Christmas day we will be closed all day. This is the only day of the year the Country Store is not at your service. Last year we were able to get by without having even one customer. We will be open till 1 a.m. Christmas eve and open again at 6 a.m. the day after Christmas.

Be sure you have plenty of fuses, milk, film, flash bulbs and an extra Christmas present for that one you forgot.

Thanks for being so wonderful to us, we hope we can do an even better job of serving you in 1963.
